Transportation Budget Sub Bill Accepted

On Wednesday, the Senate Transportation Committee accepted a substitute version of HB 74, the two-year transportation budget. Changes in the bill include increasing the GRF for public transit by $13.85 million each year, reverting the state's driver's license renewal to a four-year cycle, requiring ODOT to reopen closed weigh stations as overnight parking for commercial vehicles, clarifying the definition of "plug in electric hybrid" and "hybrid motor vehicles" to exclude vehicles with battery assist, restores language for the executive proposal on "navigable airspace", reduces the amount of capital improvement bonds ODOT is authorized to issue, and requires the director of ODOT to adopt rules to prevent any type of highway pavement from receiving priority in the bidding process.

Copay Accumulator Bill Advances

After a number of hearings in House Health committee, HB 135, which would prohibit the practice of insurers not counting third-party payments toward a patient's cost-sharing requirement, was unanimously reported out of committee. Testimony was given by a pharmacy benefit manager industry group opposing the bill, claiming that it would lead to higher prices in the long-term. Last week, proponents of the bill said the accumulators lead to high out-of-pocket costs for those who need high-cost specialty drugs.
